

Other Features

- Object Template define a template for a specific object type. Object templating is a a very flexible mechanism that is using mappings and expressions to define custom logic. Object templates are usually applied to users to enforce user policy and pre-populate user objects. User templates can be used to generate user's full name, unique identifiers, automatically assign roles or organizational units and so on.
- Protected Accounts are accounts that will not be modified by midPoint, will not be imported or synchronized. Useful for accounts such as administrator, root, etc.
- Matching Rules allow specification of non-standard matching of values. Matching rules are for example used to correctly handle case-insensitive attributes values.
